NO PEACE TERMS YET

Wall Street has been filled with imors of an early peace. Peace now is more than improbable. It is well-nigh impossible. And yet the thought itself of peace is not foolish: the rumors are not without basis.

Undoubtedly Germany wants peace. It is not too much to say that the German government and the German people are praying for peace. But how to get it-that's the Every sign points to the fact that the allies, east and west; have been preparing with heroic patience and supreme resolve for the blows that are yet to be delivered against Germany, against Austria, against Turkey, against even Bulgaria. They are going to deliver them. They will never make peace, they will never listen to peace, until they have the power which made the war in a posiherror caused by its war; until they it impossible for that power to set $15,000,000,000 now.

At what stage is the aeroplane to be "standardized?" The first one that flew at all was so wonderful that some people might have wanted to do it then. Congressmen Excited Over Provision to Eliminate 50,000 Postmasters and Put Small Offices in Charge of Civil Service Appointees..

One thing arousing it now is what it regards as a scheme of the Postmaster General to abolish more than 50,000 postoffices, and to convert the abolished offices into substations of larger offices. Should this occur a great army of postmasters would cease to hold relations with the public Treasury. In the place of the postmaster whose of-fice was abolished, there would be a superintendent who would presumably under the civil service.
